

In the First Half of 2022, Progress Wins 10 Awards for Employee Engagement and Corporate Social Responsibility

June 21, 2022

Company recognized as an employer of choice by Forbes, Inc. Magazine and the Boston Business Journal

BURLINGTON, Mass., June 21, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Progress (Nasdaq: PRGS), the trusted provider of infrastructure software, today announced that it earned a series of awards and recognitions for its employee engagement and for its corporate social responsibility (CSR) program, Progress for Tomorrow. Most recently, Progress ranked #5 for large businesses during last week's the Boston Business Journal Best Places to Work Awards Ceremony. Rankings were based on an employee survey that evaluated trust in leadership, communications and engagement, manager effectiveness, resource availability and more. Progress was also included in the 2022 Inc. Best Workplaces List and the Forbes America's Best Midsize Employers 2022 List, which each required similar employee survey input.

Progress strives to provide a work environment in which its people feel safe and valued. In addition to benefits such as learning and development, employee stock purchase plans (ESPP), global well-being programs and more, Progress provides limitless opportunities for employee engagement and innovation. This includes working on an industry leading product portfolio and supporting a customer base of some of the largest, most innovative companies in the world. Employees are also encouraged to give back to the community through Progress' expansive CSR program, Progress for Tomorrow, which includes programs dedicated to inclusion, diversity, human rights, social justice, STEM education, emergency relief and environmental sustainability.

In the first half of 2022, Progress was honored with the following recognitions:

- 2022 Boston Business Journal Best Places to Work (Second consecutive year)
- 2022 International CSR Excellence Award (Third consecutive year)
- 2022 HR Distinction Awards, India (Second consecutive year)
